Conveners:

- Dr. Arpan Kool, Assistant Professor of Physics (Convener).
- Dr. Soumi Halder, Assistant Professor of Physics (Course coordinator)

Outcome of the VAC on Basic Computer Skills:

Academic enhancement: The students learned basic computer skills from the value added course that will help students improve their presentation skills, document creation, curriculum vitae writing which is valuable for academic success.

Career opportunities: Knowledge on Microsoft word, power point presentation helped students to use them as research tools, enhancement of writing skills and is helpful for the students in various career opportunities in future and can enhance student's employability as basic computer skills are essential in most professions.

Communication: Students can connect with peers, teachers and authorities through email and online collaboration tools. Students learned proficiency in Microsoft excel and power point that enhanced their professional image and improve their academic profile.

Problem solving: Learning computer skills of excel and graph creation in word enhanced critical thinking and problem-solving ability of students.

Creativity enhancement: Students can express their creativity through multimedia projects, design and digital art. Students can use charts, graphs to enhance their presentations and make them impactful.

Time management: Students learned to use productivity tools that can help organize their tasks and schedules and academic projects.

Self expression: Students learned to share their thoughts, ideas and creations with global audience.
